SPECIAL NOTICE.

TO THE LADIES.—Do you really intend to cease wearing the beautiful styles now so prevalent, or dress less elegantly, because the rebel Jeff. Davis, was captured in Fashionable Female attire? One moment's calm reflection will surely serve to change your rash resolve. The angels had too much good sense to lay aside their pure chaste robes of white, because they had for a time served to hide the deformities of that Prince of Rebels, the Devil. Can you err in following the example of Angels? Then having made up your minds that you will continue to dress tastefully regardless of rebel acts, do not forget to call at the store of the subscribers, who will be happy at all times to furnish you with such articles of dress as you may desire. Urge your fathers, husbands, brothers, neighbors and children to visit the same store. They can here be suited in good articles of Boots, Shoes, Clothing Material, Hats, Caps, Queensware and a general assortment of Groceries, on as reasonable terms as at any House in town. PRESS ONWARD.

BY AUGUSTA BREADWELL.

Young man, be up and doing,
Wring from the world a name!
Bid idleness and sloth depart,
Climb up the hill of fame.

Resolve to be a hero
In what you undertake;
Be first and foremost in the throng,
Active and wide awake.

Forget the past, press onward.
The present is your own;
Resolve each evening's sunset
Shall find your duties done.

'Tis only by endeavor,
By stern and earnest will,
You can succeed in climbing
Fame's steep and rugged hill.

Yet with a manly purpose,
And mind that knows not fail,
No barrier can interpose,
But which you may not scale.

Care not for scoffs or idle jeers,
All flattery despise,
"Excelsior," your motto be,
Onward and upward rise.

THE NEW CHESTERFIELD.

BY JOHN QUILL.

[He writeth a letter to his son, and giveth him instruction in the art of good behavior.]

MY DEAR SON:—You have by this time arrived at that period in your life when you will have to enter into good society, and it is advisable that you should have some instruction in regard to the customs of the social world, and of the duties that you will be required to perform.

You are just of that age when clumsiness will be your most striking peculiarity. Your feet will be much out of proportion to your body, and your general configuration will bear some resemblance to an old yellow pine clothespin. To dance with a lady under these circumstances would be madness, for in all probability you will plant an acre or so of boot leather on her dress, and rip out some gathers, while she rips out a lot of subdued profanity: or you will flatten out a number of her toes, or run her against the piano and cause her to think you are about as graceful as a jointed doll, which you ain't, my son, for you put me more in mind of a long-legged pointer pup cavorting around on the grass, than any other member of the brute creation I know of.

As you can't dance without letting your legs fly around against the looking glasses and things, your finest chance will be to assume the character of a wall flower, and stand up against the partition all the evening. Of course you will feel miserable, but that's what you go there for. Your hands will feel about the size of a palm leaf fan, and will look more like two slices of bloody beef, cut into strips, than anything else. If you do not know what to do with them, it will be well to twiddle your thumbs until you can think of something.

Of course you will imagine everybody is looking at you, and you will begin to perspire freely, and grow red in the face as if your shirt collar was too tight for you. But no matter how utterly wretched you feel you've got to keep up a feeble smile, and if you can lay your hands on any other miserable young man like yourself you can talk together and pretend you are enjoying yourself intensely.

If any imprudent person asks you to sing, positively refuse, especially if the master of the house had a grandfather who worked in a saw-mill. He will probably think you are trying to insult him by imitating a cross-cut saw for the amusement of the company. Besides, you will observe the minute you begin to sing, everybody will begin to talk louder, to avoid enduring any unnecessary agony.

When you are introduced to a girl you will, of course, be scared half to death, and for the next five minutes you will be as silent as the grave, for you won't know what to say, and you will feel that you would cheerfully make any sacrifice of fortune, or life, or future prospects, for a chance to get away from that girl.

But you have got to talk to her, my child, and after standing there a while like some slab-sided cigar store Indian, it will probably flash through your mind to observe that the weather is fine, or the company pleasant this evening. Or you will ask her does she skate, or is she fond of dancing, or whether her pa lets her go to the theatre.

Go in heavy on these things, my son. Originality is such a rare gift, that when a beneficent Heaven gives it to us, we ought to exercise it conscientiously.

When you go to supper always help the ladies first, and when they are supplied, pile a plate so full that six ordinary women could live on it for a week, and then go around as if you thought they were not all helped. You can then manifest regretful surprise, after which you, of course, go into a corner where you will have a soft thing to yourself.

If you happen to be with a girl, and it seems to you that you would like to impress her favorably, you will, of course, get a plate of ice cream for her, and then while you are walking towards her with about as much grace as a crippled straddle-bug, if you can get some fellow to jog your elbow and sluice the cream over the girl's silk dress, you can calculate on arousing a deep passion in her bosom.

You've only got to get one of your brogans tangled among her hoops then and rip out about nine yards of wire-work, and you've got the thing all in your own hands to a certain extent.

If you are asked out to dinner, do not try to eat asparagus like a gun swallowing a ramrod, and if you must eat your mashed potatoes with your knife, don't try to create the impression that you are a sword-swallower by profession, or that your efforts are directed to performing a surgical operation on your palate.

Never, under any circumstances, wipe your nose on your napkin, and don't put the cold slaw into your mouth as if you were in the country, and were throwing hay into a hay mow.

If you have on a white cravat, and anybody mistakes you for a clergyman, and asks you to say grace, don't be frightened and go wandering off among the ten commandments, and don't forget yourself so far as to begin reciting poetry.

And just so when you undertake to relate an anecdote, it will make everybody unhappy with disappointment if you forget what the point was and how it ended.

When you go courting a girl, never pay much attention to the old lady if she hangs around. You can marry a woman without her mother's consent, but if the daughter ain't agreeable you will experience considerable difficulty.

When you are alone with a girl in the dark, and you feel like putting your arm around her, always skirmish a while to ascertain where she sticks her pins, or you may tear the skin off of your fingers. It will be judicious to let go your hold and sit up straight, as if there wasn't anything at all the matter, in case her father comes in, or he may help you off the steps. These old men are very eccentric about such things.

And when you take the girl out to get ice cream, be sure to manifest a magnificent indifference as to whether she takes two plates or one. It conveys an impression of wealth, and makes your six hundred dollar salary swell to a million, apparently.

In popping the question, you will have to use considerable judgment. I wouldn't advise you to go flopping about over the floor on your knees. If you are at all acquainted with the price of pants you will perceive that it don't pay, especially if the girl says she won't go in. Stand up to the rack like a man and take your fodder. Bury one of her little hands in your fin, squeeze it slightly, sigh like an old blacksmith's bellows with a slit in it, wait until she gets her head down, and then go in and make any little observations about the moon, your heart, blighted being, ecstatic bliss, and such trifles as may strike you.

If she says yes, you can tighten her dress to any extent, and run the risk of drawing her in by suction, by kissing her with rapture. If she says she won't indulge, the sooner you get your hat and get out on the pavement and stamp the bricks and skin your knuckles on the tree boxes, why the better you will feel.

And so, my boy, I send you out into the world. If you do feel as miserable and about as intelligent at first as an oyster on the half-shell, go in and do your best, and you will come out right in the end.—Sunday Transcript.

☞The Editor's Drawer, in Harper's Magazine, for August, has a funny incident which occurred at Chattanooga, during the winter of 1863—'4, in which a Lieutenant of a Pennsylvania regiment (was it the 78th?) was the hero. The Drawer says: Although the male inhabitants in that region were opposed to the sway of our common Federal Uncle, the women were disposed to Unionism, and one of the results of this sentiment on the part of the gentle sex was a disposition to go in strong for everything in the way of dances. The junior officers and sometimes the seniors, reciprocated this admirable feeling. Among the subalterns was a Lieutenant of a Pennsylvania Regiment who was a great lady-killer, and prided himself thereon. On one occasion this sanguinary young man found a lady who could waltz—a rare accomplishment among the rustics of Tennessee and Georgia. He was in extacies! and as the damsel was quite good-looking, paid her any number of compliments both on her dancing and beauty. In fact there is no knowing where his flattery would have led him if he had not been brought up all standing by a brief statement of fact, which was as follows: "La me stranger! you call me good-looking now! Why you just ought to have seen me before I had the diarrhœa!"

THE wits of Persia, to whom nothing is sacred, are telling a good story about the Shah of Persia. It appears that the Shah rather pooh poohed a proposal to introduce the telegraph into his realm, and his consent was by no means hearty. When the line was completed, the Shah was at his palace of Soultanieh. Prince Ali Kouli indicted the first despatch. It was thus:—"The melons are ripe at Kaschan." Instantly the possible uses of this invention of the infidels flashed across the royal mind, and Ali-Kouli received this agreeable answer: "I appoint you Minister of Science."

OLD Governor Stuyvesant, some years after the British took possession of New York, appeared before the Governor, (Carteret) with a complaint that he was annoyed by men and boys bathing in front of his house in a nude state. Governor Carteret assured him it should be stopped; but happening to recollect, said: "Why Governor, your house is at some distance from the river, how can it incommode the ladies of your family?" "Vy, you see," said old Peter, shaking his cane, "mine gals have got a spy glass."

Love on the Brain.

This disease is confined to no particular age or station. We had an attack of it when about fifteen. We had had it so severely that our mother wanted to give us paregoric. We recovered in course of time. Once it broke out fully in the shape of a certain question to a certain lady. She answered in a monosyllable of two letters. It brought us to our senses. It swept the mist from our eyes like a fog before a hurricane. We looked for the cloud and saw a large white bird sailing on a pond. Thought we were very much the same kind of a bird, with our wings clipped. A few days after we told our chum we didn't see anything in that flaunting Dorothy Diddle to admire. And we didn't.

The disease develops itself most singularly in those who are advanced in years. Any one who has seen an old man in love has seen nature's harlequin. The old dame gets up nothing more ludicrous or more inconsistent. Every one feels like laughing at the poor old fellow's infirmity.

We once saw an old man who was suffering from an attack of it. He was well enough advanced in life to have a dozen grandchildren. We know him well. He was the playmate of our illustrious grandsire, who wasn't a quartermaster in the Revolutionary war. If he had been we would have been better off than we are now. We had noticed for some time a singularity in his conduct. We saw him several times with roses stuck in his button-hole. We caught him once reading Burns' "Highland Mary." We were out with him once looking at his stock, and we asked which was his favorite heifer. He said, "Widow Wilkins." The cat was out. We knew what was the matter; but when, several months after, we saw him washing the dishes while the widow—that was—nursed the baby, we thought he was cured permanently.

There is no preventive for this disease. Like the hooping-cough and the mumps, it comes to all mankind. But it seldom kills. We have heard of persons dying of it, but as we have never seen a case of the kind, we are not willing to record it as a fact. All the cases that ever came under our observation, including our own promiscuous cases, recovered in one way or another. Most of the cures have been the result of a wife and a few children. Most any preacher will help a person to the former, while the latter come in time. The more of them, the sounder the cure.

About Humor.

Humor will often dispose best of enthusiastic or frantic fanatics. In Dean Swift's time a tailor near him took it into his head that he was divinely called to interpret the prophecies, especially Revelations. One night he received the commission to declare the word of the Lord to the Dean, and bright and early the next morning he was on his way to do it. Through his glass door the Dean saw him coming, and at once surmised his errand. Putting on a grave, studious air, and opening his Bible to Revelations X., with fixed attention he awaited the prophet's approach. The door opened, and in an unearthly voice it was announced: "Dean Swift, I am sent by the Almighty to ——" "Come in, come in, my friend," said the Dean, "I am in great trouble, and no doubt the Lord has sent you to help me out of my difficulties." The prophet was cheered by the welcome. He was all ears in more senses than one. "My friend," said the Dean, "I have just been reading Revelations X, and am greatly distressed with a difficulty, and you are the very man to help me out. Here is an account of an angel that came down from Heaven, and was so large that he placed one foot upon the land and the other upon the sea, and lifted up his hands to Heaven. Now my knowledge of mathematics has enabled me to calculate the form and size of this angel; but I am in great difficulty, for I wish to ascertain how much cloth it will take to make him a pair of breeches; and as that is your business I have no doubt but the Lord has sent you to show me." The poor tailor was confounded. He felt as if struck by an electric shock. He rushed back to his shop; a revulsion of feeling came over him, and he was fully satisfied that his calling did not lie in the line of prophetic interpretation.

SHALL WOMAN RIDE ASTRIDE?—In Socano county, California, not long since, a young lady was killed by falling from the horse on which she was riding. While her animal was driving at full speed she fell, her skirts hanging to the saddle, dragging her for the distance of half a mile, and horribly mangling her body. After announcing the fact, the San Jose "Mercury" adds: "If she had been dressed in a suitable riding habit, and had been seated on her horse in the only safe manner in which a horse can be ridden—that is, astride—no such accident could have occurred."

☞The second prize in the Shelby County Monumental Gift Enterprise—"McCabe's residence ticket 4190"—was drawn by Anna Russman, of Sidney, a little German girl only three years old. The Sidney Journal says: "There is a story about town that when the mother heard of her child's fortune, her maternal Dutch heart so overflowed with satisfaction that she caught her lucky pet in her arms exclaiming "Bully for you. You must have a glass of beer."

☞Plato entertained some of his friends at a dinner, and had in the chamber a bed, neatly and costly furnished. Diogenes came in and got upon the bed, and trampled it, saying, "I trample upon the pride of Plato!" Plato mildly answered: "But with far more pride, Diogenes."

Helping to Edit.

BY "GRIS."

A stranger came into our sanctum this morning, a well-meaning, innocent looking individual, who stated that he was detained in town a few hours, and wanted to while away his time by reading the newspapers. He said, although he was poor, he didn't believe in getting something for nothing. "I can't pay money," he said, with touching melancholy, "in return for discommoding you and for the privilege of looking over your exchanges; but if there is any way in which I can recompense you—work my way, as it were—I will cheerfully do it."

We told him he was welcome to read the papers; but he sturdily insisted upon doing something for us in return, and said, unless he could do it, he should be reluctantly compelled to bid us a very good morning.

"Now," said the singular stranger, "If I could sweep out your office, or split kindling wood for you, or help you edit——"

A thought struck us. We were short handed, and the weather had produced its naturally languid effect upon us, so that we felt a repugnance to labor—besides, here was independence in poverty, which we admired. We then told him he might assist us in "editing," and suggested that he give us an article upon the present hot weather. His face brightened up at once, and borrowing a lead pencil of us (his landlord, he said, had taken his for his board), he sat down to the task. We advised him to lay off his coat, which was buttoned up to the throat, and woollen, intended originally for the winter month; although thin enough for the equator—at the elbows—but he declined with such precipitation that we fear the poor fellow hadn't any shirt on. He said he never "edited" before, but he knew he could do it.

After several hours of sweltering toil, during which he fainted a number of times from the heat, and was revived by the office boy (who believed him to be an impostor) going to the head of the concern and "blowing" on him, he produced the following article on the weather. We give it as he wrote it, merely taking the liberty of inserting a few explanatory sentences in parenthesis:—

HOT WEATHER.

Hot weather is owing in a measure to the great number of thermometers that are manufactured at this season of the year. If we didn't have so many thermompters it wouldn't be so hot, leastwise we wouldn't notice it so much. I know a man who thought the weather was cool and salubrious until, in an evil hour, he listened to the solicitations of his daughters, who were getting stuck up, and wanted a thermometer, and so he bought one. The next day he had a sunstroke. Thermometers ought to be abolished by act of Congress. Look at the Arctic regions. The Arctic's don't have any thermometers. What's the consequence? They don't have any hot weather. (Drowsy with the heat, the able writer had to be aroused with a heavy blow from a fan.)

Hot weather occurs in the summer for the most part, except in sections where they don't have any, and then it comes in the winter. Its principal productions are Fourth of July, wilted collars, lemonade, sunstroke, ice-cream, bowel complaint, watermelons, awnings, linen coats, hydrophobia, bathing, straw hats, perspiration, watering places, sun umbrellas, mint juleps, steamboat excursions, long days, hot nights, street sprinklers, beer gardens, dullness in trade, heavy washing bills, low water, depression of spirits, mosquitoes, and the closing of the schools. (He went to sleep again, but was revived by drenching him with several buckets of water. Arousing himself with a tremendous effort, he began once more):—

Hot weather is a very old institution, old as the world, nearly. Adam and Eve stayed in the Garden of Eden until it got too hot to hold them, and they were dressed for a warm latitude too, according to all reports. Eve gets the credit for it. Many wives seem to inherit that unhappy temperament, and make their homes too hot to hold their lords. (We suspect that the unhappy stranger is referring from "hot weather" at home, hence his wanderings. We order an application of warm ice to his head, and he proceeds.)

It is easy enough to write about hot weather when there are others to whom these things of which the heat at the same time. (The excessive heat is affecting his reason. He must wind up soon.) How singular it is the folks don't keep cool! What is winter for except to allow people to get cool, but with the improvidence of the race they won't keep it. I am like all the rest. There has been a coolness existing between myself and all my relations for months, but it is no use here. I find it oozing out in perspiration—I feel as if I was standing on thermometers sixty feet high——hot weather, as I said before——I'm baking——oh, that I was a windmill——when I say that hot weather, of which——I'm broiled——I'm almost cooked——hot was ——I'm done!"

The rash and unfortunate stranger, whose honorable instincts would not permit him to receive something for nothing, and who rashly wanted to "work his way," and who rashly attempted to write an article on hot weather, with the thermometer at its present high standing in society, became utterly prostrated at this point, and was laid away in a back room until he recovers and is identified. Any friends of his can have him by calling at this office, proving property and paying for this notice.—Cincinnati Times.

WM. LEWIS, HUGH LINDSAY, } EDITORS.

EXTREMES, BEGET EXTREMES.—Kentucky voted last week—the anti-Radical majority is about as large as the Radical majority in Tennessee. There was no colored vote in Kentucky.

THE CONVENTIONS.—The Republican and Democratic Conventions of this county will assemble here to-day, (Tuesday,) and to-morrow (Wednesday.) We will publish the proceedings of both next week. The politicians of both parties are busy and the number of voters to be sold will be unusually large.

☞The Swiss hold their elections on Sunday for the purpose of securing the sanctity of the ballot box, and impressing the voters with a due sense of the solemnity and importance of the work they are engaged in. If voting on Sunday has such an effect, although we don't believe it, would it not be well enough to introduce the custom in America. The sanctity of the ballot-box in this country is not preserved as it should be, as many an unprincipled man breaks a pledge when he deposits his ballot; while as for the solemnity and importance of the work the voters are engaged in, it is a well-known fact that many of them never think of what vast importance there is attached to the simple act of letting drop a little piece of paper in the ballot-box. If all did, we would have a far happier state of affairs. Politicians would have to appeal to a voter's judgment, and not to his passions and prejudices; voters would think before they voted, and whiskey-befuddled brains at the ballot-box would be a rare occurrence.

☞We see it stated that twenty thousand Swiss women earn a comfortable living by watch-making. This fact should explode the idea entertained by some that a woman's sphere is the domestic, and that alone. The time is passing away when women are to be considered such effeminate creatures as to be unfit for those light tasks which more effeminate men seek to obtain; and we look for the day when their places will be occupied by the women, who in many cases are better fitted for the labor than men. It is a very mistaken notion to suppose that a woman is not adapted for light manual labor outside of the household, and we think society would be better off if ladies should be employed more universally as clerks or engaged in some easy and useful calling. Labor is not disgraceful, by any means; and we are sure that an industrious young lady is held in higher estimation than an indolent one, simply because she gives a practical demonstration of her worth. So it will ever be.

In the cities the number of ladies employed in light labor is remarkable. The reason of this is, mainly, that necessity compels them to earn their daily bread. In the inland towns, however, such is not the case, and we see ladies growing up in apparent idleness, simply because they are too proud or too much ashamed to work, or ask for employment. Such individuals must lead a miserable existence. The hours of the day are full of monotony to them, and unless the evening hours are passed in company, or in the giddy ball-room, they have no apparent pleasure, and they retire to their couches, with anything but the sweet contentment of the industrious one who has labored the day long, and feels refreshed for the next by a good night's rest. If ladies would experience true contentment they must seek it in employment; and we hope that all such notions as that work is disgraceful for a lady will be swept away by public opinion, and then the true merit of women will be seen and appreciated.

A NEW FIELD FOR BENEVOLENCE.—Modern civilization has devised many excellent institutions for the benefit of afflicted persons who would be burdens on society if not cared for in a proper manner. The latest idea of this kind is an Asylum for Useless Young Men, which has been suggested as a means of educating an unfortunately numerous class into hard-working and respectable citizens. If the project could be carried out it would be a genuine source of benefit to the community at large, and its popularity would be immense with everybody except the "patients" themselves, who would probably fail to appreciate its advantages until they were thoroughly cured. Such a charity, however, ought not to be confined to the male sex; but a department for Useless Young Women should be provided, together with competent instructors in the art of darning stockings, making shirts, &c. An institution of this character could find plenty of subjects to operate upon, and if properly conducted by persons of enlightened views it could scarcely fail to be of essential service to society.

☞The highest achievement of a politician is the judicious kissing of babies. It goes straight to the mother's heart and makes her a zealous canvasser for the balance of the campaign. In kissing babies of a larger growth, especially if they are pretty, and the persuasion female, there is danger of being regarded as one having an eye to personal attractions. But with little babes the case is different, and the act is an undoubted compliment to the little darling's mother.

A Word in Time to both Conventions.

We are old in politics, as the saying is, and we have a few thoughts to offer at this time, for the benefit of those who know us, as well as for those who don't:

1st. Be it understood that we are not a member of either party organization. Therefore both Conventions are respectfully invited to save themselves the unnecessary trouble of "reading us out."

2d. If anybody is heard to say "Old Dad Lewis had something to do with that ticket," we respectfully request that one or more of our former political friends would inform him that such is not the case; that we can only influence "17 votes in the county," and therefore we are "played out."

3d. If anybody is heard to say, we are a candidate for Assembly, will somebody tell him that it is not our desire to be "forced" upon the good people of the county, as so many candidates have already been. We are opposed to forcing any man to vote for us; and then again our character would not bear contamination. We fear the stench from the last Legislature has not left the halls at Harrisburg, so save us, good friends, from being sent there.

4th. If there are any soldiers seeking a nomination, tell them not to be too sanguine, for perhaps the greater will be their disappointment if they don't get it. It would be well enough for soldiers, we think, to ascertain which party contained the most love for the soldier before they venture to be nominated.

5th. Great care should be taken to nominate good men, for the people are getting tired of merely going through the motions of an election without accomplishing any reform.

6th. The delegates should go to both conventions with the expectation of not being bribed. Candidates have lost so much by this means that they have concluded to stop it. The candidates have come to the conclusion that they will not be considered honest men if they resort to bribery, and in order to keep up appearances they will do nothing that is dishonest.

7th. We think it will be well enough if both conventions have something to say about the negro. Everybody wants to know just where his neighbor stands on that question, because they have heard so much talk about him that they are led to believe the negro is one of the American wonders.

8th, and last. For and in consideration of the above advice to delegates, we ask that each convention recommend us to the consideration of their party as a candidate for the office of President of these United (?) States, as we pledge ourself to restore all the difficulties existing between the North and South, by playing Radical one day and Conservative the next; to settle the negro question on a permanent basis by transportation or social equality; *to reduce the National debt by repu*diation or piling on the taxes; and to thoroughly reconstruct the Southern States by removing all the people of those States into the North, or transporting all the Northerners into the South. This is our platform, and we hope it will suit everybody, both white and black. It is a platform, too, that is broad enough to elect any man, but we don't want any party to adopt it without giving us the credit, and sharing the "spoils."

☞In a late number of the Lynchburg Virginian, we find the following:

A friend who has been residing in the peninsula for some months past, informs us that there are about 28,000 negroes between Williamsburg and Hampton—a distance of thirty-six miles. These people are sustained with rations furnished by the government at a cost of $90,000 monthly, while five companies of cavalry are required to patrol the country to prevent depredations. Every effort has been made to induce a portion of them to remove to Florida, the officers of the government offering them free transportation. There is a standing offer of this nature made by General Armstrong, of the Freedmen's Bureau, to convey the men with their families, to any point they may select, with the view of engaging in useful labor. But they have persistently refused every offer of the kind and rejected every overture made to get them employment. Under the provisions of the civil rights bill it is impossible to do anything contrary to their wishes, and so they remain huddled within this limited area and are a heavy tax upon the government. Some of them have taken to highway robbery, and, but for the presence of a large cavalry force, a residence in that country would be intolerable. Verily! Radicalism is a dear experiment, taxing the patience and pockets of the people to a degree unprecedented in the history of any country.

THE STORY OF A WIDOW.—A young widow of Quincy, Illinois, met a stranger on the street and asked him the way; he asked her if she was not a widow; she said she was; he said he was a widower, a doctor, from Palmyra, Missouri, and proposed matrimony on the spot; she blushed and hesitated; wouldn't he come home and see her friends about it; the interview was satisfactory, the marriage was arranged for next morning, the widow's cash (forty dollars) got into the doctor's pocket, he went to get shaved, and has never returned. He even left her, cruel man, standing in the public square while he "just run over to the barber's." There was no such doctor in Palmyra, and the curtain drops on a woman in tears.

EX-GOV. D. R. PORTER DEAD.—David R. Porter died at his residence in Harrisburg on Friday afternoon of last week.

President Johnson and Secy. Stanton.

WASHINGTON, August 7, 1867.

The following is the correct text of the correspondence which recently passed between the President and Secretary of War:

"Executive Mansion, Washington, Aug. 5, 1867—Sir:—Public considerations of a high character constrain me to say that your resignation as Secretary of War will be accepted.

Very respectfully,
(Signed,) ANDREW JOHNSON.
To Hon Edwin M. Stanton, Sec'y of War.

To which the Sec'y replied as follows:

War Department, August 5, 1867,—SIR: Your note of this date has been received, stating that public considerations of a high character constrain you to say that my resignation as Secretary of War will be accepted. In reply, I have the honor to say that public considerations of a high character, which alone have induced me to continue at the head of this Department, constrain me not to resign the office of Secretary of War before the next meeting of Congress.

Very respectfully, yours,
(Signed. EDWIN M. STANTON.
To the President.

[From the Washington Intelligencer, 9th.]

The statement which has found its way in some of the public prints, to the effect that the President has ordered that no further communication shall be held with Mr. Stanton, is, we are satisfied, inaccurate. So long as he is permitted to remain in office, official relations must necessarily subsist. It does not follow, however, that he will attend Cabinet consultations. These are not held in virtue of law. They are purely discretionary with the President, who is neither obliged to confer with his Secretaries in formal meetings, nor is he restricted to the heads of departments in seeking advice upon public affairs.

The President, we believe, will deal with his refractory War Secretary in another and more direct way. It is understood, from some of Mr. Stanton's friends, that that gentleman is not entirely beyond the fear of popular scorn, and may yet reconsider his refusal to resign, however repugnant such a step may be to his inveterate love for official position. We learn from a usually well informed source that it is the purpose of Mr. Johnson to allow this whole matter to remain in abeyance for a few days, giving time for reflection on the part of Mr. Stanton and the friends who advise him as to the course he should pursue. If, in two or three days, he shall still persist in the refusal to resign, the President will suspend him, by giving him notice, substantially, that he is thereby suspended from the further execution of the functions of the office of Secretary of War, and that the *reasons for this suspension will be sub*mitted to the Senate at the next session of Congress.

The Surratt Case.

No Verdict—The Jury Discharged—Judge Fisher and Mr. Bradley—Excitement in Court—Mr. Bradley Stricken from the Rolls—A Challenge to Judge Fisher.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10.—At 12 30 Deputy Marshal Phillips came into the court-room and stationed the officers. This was a signal for a rush on the part of the crowd that had been patiently waiting outside, and they quickly filled up the space outside the bar. A number were admitted inside the bar. District Attorney Carrington was in the court room at the time, and Mr. Bradley, Jr., one of the counsel for the prisoner, came in a moment afterwards. Mr. Bradley, Sr., and Mr. Merrick subsequently entered the room, they having been sent for. There was a decided commotion in the court room, and it was whispered about:—"The jury has agreed." "They are going to discharge the jury." "They can't agree, and have asked to be discharged,"

At one o'clock the prisoner was brought into the court room and assigned the seat occupied by him during the trial beside his counsel. He came into court smiling, and seemed to be in good spirits, as he chatted with his counsel.

Mr. Merrick made an allusion to a report that an attempt would be made at a rescue, whereat the prisoner seemed to be much amused.

At five minutes past one Judge Fisher resumed his seat upon the bench.

Mr. Malloy, the crier, called the Court to order, and Marshal Phillips was directed to bring the jury down. By this time the room was much crowded. The Jury was brought in at eight minutes past one, and by direction of Judge Fisher the names of the jurors were called.

Mr. Middleton, the clerk, addressing the jury, said: "Gentlemen of the jury, have you agreed upon your verdict?"

Mr. Todd. We have not been able to agree.

Judge Fisher. I have received the following letter from the jury:

To the Hon. George P. Fisher, Judge of the Criminal Court:

SIR: The jury in the case of the United States vs. John H. Surratt most respectfully state that they stand precisely now as when they first balloted upon entering the room—nearly equally divided—and they are firmly convinced that they cannot possibly make a verdict. We deem it our duty to the court, to the country, and in view of the condition of our private affairs and the situation of our families, and in view of the fact that the health of several of our number is becoming seriously impaired under the protracted confinement, to make this statement, and ask your honor to dismiss us at once.

Most respectfully submitted.

W. B. Todd,	James Y. Davis,
Robert Ball,	C. Alexander,
J. Russell Barr,	Wm. McLean,
Thomas Berry,	B. F. Morsell,
Geo. A. Bohrer,	B. E. Gittings,
C. G Schneider,	W. W. Birth.

After the letter had been read, Judge Fisher asked if anything was to be said on either side why the jury was not to be discharged.

Mr. Bradley said the prisoner did not consent, and if there was discharge, it would be against the protest of the prisoner.

Mr. Carrington said he would leave the whole matter with the court.

Judge Fisher said he had already received two or three notes of a similar tenor to the one read. If there was any possibility of the jury agreeing he would not object to keeping them for a reasonable time. But as he was informed they could not agree, he would discharge them.

The jury was accordingly discharged at ten minutes past one o'clock, and the jury then left the court room.

At this stage Judge Fisher had Mr. Bradley stricken from the rolls of attorneys practicing in the court. Mr. Bradley was present, and took the discharge as an insult, and it is said that when the Judge was leaving in the cars, Mr. Bradley handed him a note, which is thought to be a challenge.

The order of Judge Fisher dismissing Mr. Bradley has created the most intense excitement among all classes, but the police are preserving order. The members of the bar generally are bitter in their denunciations of the Judge, and have called a meeting to be held on Monday morning. They seem to make common cause against the Judge, who, they openly declare, has disgraced himself by using his official power to resent a present assault. Surratt was remanded to the custody of the Marshal and returned to jail.

During the entire retirement of the jury twenty-three hours they remained as follows on the verdict:

For conviction—Mr. Todd, Mr. Barr, Mr. Schneidor, Mr. McLean.

For acquittal—Davis, Berry, Ball, Bohrer, Alexander, Morsell, Gittings, and Birth.

There is good authority for stating that the jury disagreed on the question of the absence of Surratt from Washington at the time of the assassination of the President, and that they were entirely agreed upon this point, that had he been indicted for conspiracy he would have been convicted immediately on retiring to their room.

The following facts as to the nativity of the jurors may not be uninteresting to the public.

W. B. Todd, born December 3, 1809, at Newburyport, Mass.

Robert Ball, born April 30, 1827, at Alexandria county, D. C.

J. Russell Barr, born January, 7, 1812, at Northumberland county, Pa.

Thomas Berry, born February 10, 1810, at New York city.

George A. Bohrer, born January 1, 1816, at Georgetown, D. C.

Christain S. Schneider, born June 12, 1831, at Wurtemburg, Germany.

James Y. Davis, born July 30, 1819, at Northumberland, Pa.

Columbus Alexander, born September 15, 1815, at Alexandria, Va.

William McLean, born December 1, 1820, at Kilmarnock, Scotland.

Benj. F. Morsell, born January 30, 1821, at Prince George County, Md.

Benj. Gittings, born December 13, 1808, at Montgomery County, Md.

Wm. W. Birth, born January 11, 1808, at Washington, D. C.

It is said by gentlemen who have seen the communication handed by Mr. Bradley to Judge Fisher to day, that it first refers to the affair in the court room between Judge Fisher and Mr. Bradley, early in July last, during the progress of the Surratt trial, and quotes the expression attributed to Judge Fisher, to the effect that he (Mr. Bradley,) knew where the Judge lived and that the latter would receive a communication from him at any time.

REBUILDING.—A late letter from Portland to the Evening Post says: A year and a few days ago, some three hundred and twenty acres of buildings in the beautiful city of Portland were destroyed by fire. Fifteen hundred buildings were burned to the ground, and fifty-eight streets and eight miles of thoroughfare became a vast field of calcined brick and ashes; ten thousand persons were left homeless; ten millions of property dissipated in the flames. The energies of a prosperous city were, for the moment, prostrated and paralyzed. Yet a little more than twelve months a grand resurrection has occurred. All over the burnt district there have risen miles of new and beautiful buildings. The City Hall has taken on more elegant forms; banking institutions have taken refuge in substantial buildings of granite and freestone; and the thousand articles of trade are displayed in storehouses which are better than ever before adapted to the needs of commerce. Along some of the streets there are temporary wooden buildings, which remind one of some of the cities on the frontier, which rise in the night from the prairie; but these will soon be replaced by permanent and more costly structures. What a splendid triumph of human skill, energy and perseverance is this! There is something very grand in this tenacity of purpose, this unconquerable resolution, this triumph over disaster. It is a symbol of American enterprise. It is more than that; it is a striking exhibition of Yankee pluck. Merchants of the city tell me that in three years they will not only make good to the taxable property the ten millions they lost on that night of sadness, but they will add largely to their wealth, and in every way they are setting themselves to that work.

A NATURAL BRIDGE IN OHIO.—Ohio, like Virginia, has a wonderful natural bridge. It is in Hocking county, fifteen miles from Lancaster. A person who visited it recently describes it as follows: This is a grand and beautiful arch of a solid rock, spanning a wide ravine of some sixty feet in depth, through which meanders, among the rocks which have fallen from the cliffs above, a clear and tiny rivulet, which seems to have its origin in springs above and under the bridge, and flows thence, in the course of two or three hundred yards, into the Hocking. The exposed portion of the rock, forming the bridge proper, presents a surface on the upper side of about one hundred and sixty feet in length, eight to twenty feet in breath, and six to twelve feet in thickness It is gently arched, smooth on top, where the rock is, in part, bare, and in part carpeted with green turf, forming an ample passageway for pedestrians, and over which, but for one narrow place, carriages and teams might easily cross Immediately above the bridge, and separated from it by a fissure ranging from a few inches to several feet in width, is a vast overhanging rock, looming over a space where a regiment of men could be accommodated with shade and shelter. The whole is environed by a most lovely forest, and shut in by the green and romantic hills.

Tippling in England.

The Lancet has raised its voice, certainly none too soon, against the increasing indulgence among the educated and gentle, of what it justly characterized as the pernicious habit of tippling. There can be no doubt in the mind of any who observes the changes of manners in good society that this very serious charge is well founded, nor must the ladies, though the Lancet delicately abstains from direct allusion to them, be allowed to consider themselves exempted from its strictures or unconcerned in its warnings. Everything in modern customs tends that way, the large, wine glasses in use at all dinner tables, the introduction of amiable alcoholic drinks; the fashion of giving claret or moselle cup as an adjunct to the five o'clock tea table, and at the buffets of evening parties, where girls, heated with dancing or fevered with the constant round of excitement, may be seen swallowing glass after glass of these tempting and fallaciously cool bevorages in place of the lemonades and syrups which formerly sufficed for their refreshment. But has the faculty, as it is called, nothing to answer for in promoting the present state of things? Children are now given "by the doctor's orders," an amount of alcohol which would have horrified their grand-mothers. The beer or port wine administered two or three times a day at first disgusts, but soon becomes grateful to them. Almost every one of us may plead medical advice as the beginning of the habit. They say the modern type of disease is low; that stimulants are requisite; and that whether they prescribe chloric ether or champagne, does not much signify. Perhaps not in the physical point of view, but in the moral one? Surely the temptation to the abuse of such stimulants as lavender, ether, &c., is not so great or so constantly recurring as that of wine and liquors, which are offered and pressed upon us wherever we go. Brandy now takes the place of sal volatile in the lady's dressing case; and the properties of gin as a cleansing agent, applicable to everything, from the gilt stopper of a scent bottle to a lace flounce, are firmly impressed on the mind of the waiting maid. We would never speak but with respect of the noble profession of healing, but it cannot be denied that the peculiar temptation assailing some of its more "fashionable" members is that of following rather than leading the inclinations of their patients.—Pall Mall Gazette, July 12th.

An English M. P. on the Plains.

Hon. Thomas Cave, M. P. for Barnstable, has returned to Chicago from the Plains, where, besides visiting the Union Pacific Railroad, he had some exciting adventures. We learn from the Chicago Journal that while at Julesburg, Col. Carling, commandant of the post, tendered to Mr. Cave the hospitalities of his camp, and an invitation for an antelope hunt on the prairies. At five o'clock the next morning, with the instinct of a true English gentleman, than whom there is no better representative, the invitation was at once accepted, and with Col. Carling, his orderly, and two scouts, the member of Parliament was accompanied to the field. They were not long in finding antelope in considerable numbers, and excellent sport was had. After a few hours amongst these antlered beauties, a brace of wolves appeared upon the scene, and Mr. C., being finely mounted, decided to make a dash after them, and after an exciting chase of two miles came up with the coyota. For the first time, however, he found that he had left his rifle with his attendants, and turned to call them to him to procure it, when he was notified that a band of hostile Indians were manœuvring to cut him off from his party. This was evidently no time to tarry for the brush of the wolf which had been run down and exhausted

Mr. Cave, therefore, reluctantly gave up the chase, and putting spurs to his horse soon regained his companions, with their fire arms, when a new difficulty beset them. The right scout dashed up with the not very cheering intelligence that another band of the "gentlemen without hats" were approaching from an opposite direction, and the other scout came up with a similar report from the left.

A council of war was at once called, and the party dismounted for a stand up fight. Being armed with the Henry repeating rifle they would doubtless have rendered a good account of themselves, had not the Indians deemed discretion the better part of valor, and concluded they could see just as well a little farther off.

The party accordingly returned safely to camp, and Mr. Cave with the reflection that if he did not bear off the scalp of the wolf, he saved his own, and thus ended our friend's first day's experience in hunting antelope upon the prairies.

The Indian War.

LEAVENWORTH, Kansas, Aug. 5.—On the 1st instant Captain Arms, of the 10th Cavalry, with forty-four men of the same regiment, started in pursuit of a band of Indian raiders, who had been committing outrages near Fort Hayes. After a hot pursuit of forty-five miles our troops overtook about seventy-five Indians on Sabine river, and a hot fight ensued, when the Indians were reinforced by about two hundred braves, all armed with Spencer carbines and commanded by two white men. Captain Arms was surrounded, but fought his way out and fell back towards Fort Hayes, closely pursued by the Indians, for a distance of fifteen miles. Capt. Arms was wounded in the thigh, and seven of his men were also wounded.

After falling back this distance, Captain Arms sent to Fort Hayes for reinforcements. Forty additional men were sent to him, since which time nothing has been heard from them.

The Indians are in strong force, and threaten all the posts on the Smoky Hill route.

☞A company has been organized to engage in the manufacture of elastic sponge, to be used for upholstery and all purposes for which curled hair is now used. It is said that a sponge mattress possesses all the advantages, and is free from many of the disadvantages of hair, and can be afforded much cheaper. The process of manufacture is similar to that of paper, as far as the preparation of pulp is concerned.

FREAK OF A SOMNAMBULIST.—A somewhat singular freak of a somnambulist has just been related to us. A gentleman living in the Seventh Ward one morning missed a quantity of money which he had in a drawer, and, although strict search was made, no clue to the missing cash could be found. The money was taken from a drawer which was kept locked, and the key in the gentleman's pocket. The affair was involved in mystery, which was not removed the next day when a set of silver spoons were missed. The servants were suspected of the theft, and as a knowledge that the articles had been missed had been kept from them, it was determined to keep a watch next night and fasten the guilt upon whoever should be found trespassing. Everything about the house remained quiet until about two o'clock, when a stir was heard. The person who was on the watch peered cautiously through the hall from whence came the sounds of footsteps, and saw approaching the gentleman of the house. He went to the cupboard with a stealthy step, took therefrom a quantity of silver plate and started for the back yard, closely followed by the watchman, who at once suspected the truth of the case. The sleep-walker proceeded cautiously to the woodshed, and covered the plate carefully in a barrel of ashes and started back to his house. He was awoke, however, by the watchman, and appeared greatly bewildered at finding himself in that place. The matter was explained to him and search was at once instituted among the ashes for the missing property. The search was happily rewarded by the discovery of the silver plate, spoons, and greenbacks, safely secreted among the ashes where they had been deposited by the gentleman, who had been unconsciously guilty of robbing himself. This experience may result in the cure of the gentleman of his habit of sleep-walking.—Milwaukee Sentinel.

THE TRIP TO EUROPE.—A voyager to Europe gives the following account of the passage in the steamer: There are several ladies who kept their staterooms from the beginning, eating nothing, doing nothing, crying to the captain to stop the ship and put them on shore, and asking piteously whether the next wave will be as big as the last one. These are hauled up on the fourth day, and have a sensation of being bounced into the air and left hanging there. But none are so utterly miserable as the ship's bride, who came on board with her groom in a new travelling dress of silver colored poplin, with a tear on her white veil as she bade her mother good bye, dropped upon her grooms' arm, and thought of love, protection, Paris, and presents. In two hours she has a sensation, as she stands on the hurricane deck, of having eaten too much fruit cake. This increases as the ocean draws nearer, and finally resolves itself into a great ache, both in the head and stomach. Proud as a Sioux brave stands her husband. Palo as a captive squaw is she wondering whether such pains are immediately consequent upon the marriage state, and wishing she were single again, or had taken the other man. At last she fades below, like the spectre of a mermaid, and sobs her pillow case full. Poor dear! she thinks that John will be disgusted; while John, like a born surgeon, is running for hartshorn, salts, Congress water, and brandy, all of which are thrown at him out of the depths of her distress, and she lives to believe that the first week of marriage is the weariest of life.

A PRETTY PICTURE.—The following is from an essay contributed to the Herald of Health by Mrs. Gleason:

"I once sat on a porch at twilight with a little boy in my lap. His bright plump face glowed with a coaxing admiration as he turned it upward saying: 'Moon and star, come down to me.' After an expectant delay he seemed to remember that please was a powerful word for procuring pleasures in his happy circle. Feeling sure of success this time, each tiny hand was extended, with palms upward, ready to receive the gifts when they descended as he said: 'Moon and star, please do come to me.' Finding that even please did not bring down the desired treasures, he gently laid his hands in his lap, and with a soft sigh of resignation said: 'Moon and stars too high for me!' but still with radiant face he gazed admiringly. I then thought terror and trouble would come to us if, in maturer years, we had our own way at all times, just as in mercy moon and stars were held in their course despite childish pleadings. So, when our hopes are deferred, or plans fail, we may by a contemplation of Nature's quiet grandeur grow cool and content, saying: 'All this which we asked was too high for us.'"

DO ANIMALS REASON.—Mr. Seth Rogers, of Bath, Mo., says the Portland Argus, has in his family, a pet cat, whose powers of perception are remarkably distinct from the fact that she became recently in possession of a beautiful kitten, which was earnestly solicited by one of his neighbors when it should be of an age to be removed from its fond parent. One morning after, the kitten was found at the house of the person who desired it, and it was found that "Topsy," the mother, had carried the kitten there of her own accord, and, laying it down, looked up and seemed to say, here it is, take good care of it, since which time she has never been near it.

☞The Boston Traveler states that a lady in Reading, Mass., while conversing with some callers, suddenly turned pale and sinking into a chair, exclaimed, "Did you hear that gun? it affected me strangely;" and wept inconsolably. Her visitors heard no report, and it afterward appeared that no gun had been fired at that time or the place. News came, however, that her brother, residing a hundred miles away, was at that very hour fatally shot by the accidental discharge of his fowling piece while hunting in the grove near his house.

☞Beecher says, in his new novel: "One of these days men will call things by their right names. Then, they won't say, 'he's of a good disposition,' but, 'he has a good stomach.' Half the grace that's going is nothing but food. Paul said the kingdom was not meat and drink. Very likely not, hereafter. But it is here. Good steak and light bread are benevolence. Coffee is inspiration and humor. Good tea is tenderness and sprightliness—facts very humbling of our excellences. But they're facts."

Brief Items.

—David, a little son of Mr. David Strickler, of this place, jumped from a fence and cut a frightful gash in his foot, one day last week.

—During the present year but one death has occurred in the Western Penitentiary, and in that case deceased was an old man who had the consumption when he was sent there.

—Many of our citizens are afflicted with felons, catarrhs, and other boilings. The tincture of lobelia, when applied in time, it is said, will put them back; but many are afraid to try this cure as the consequences are sometimes more serious.

—We didn't hear of any one seeing meteors on Friday or Saturday night last. Saturday night the clouds obscured the heavens. If we had seen anything our readers would have received the benefit of our observations.

—The construction of the Johnstown water works has been commenced. The supply of water is to be obtained from Solomon's Run, one of the purest of the mountain streams. The dam or reservoir is to be about one and a half miles south of Johnstown, just above Jacoby's saw mill.

—We have received the first number of the Tyrone Herald, published by H. R. Holsinger, and edited by J. L. Holmes. We are highly pleased with its appearance, and hope the new paper will have a "long, happy and prosperous life," and meet with many admirers.

—Church street, near the Castilian Garden, has been undergoing some greatly needed improvements. A pavement has been laid, and the street is being leveled. Mifflin street is also looking up, and Glazier and Cobill are improving their residences on Washington street.

—We notice that several brick dwelling houses have gone up in different parts of the old town, also in the new. We are glad to see that the spirit of improvement has not died out in ye ancient borough, nor, from present indications, is it likely that it will.—What we want yet is a few more manufacturing institutions.

—The Good Templars' pic-nic at Pleasant Grove, on Friday last, was a truly pleasant affair. About seventy-five members of the order participated in the enjoyments, and we can recall but few occasions wherein genuine fraternal feeling was so generally manifested. May we live to enjoy many more such pleasant periods.

—The Tyrone Herald gives the following notice of our band: The Huntingdon Silver Cornet Band passed through this place a few days since en route for Bellefonte to participate in the dedication of a Masonic Temple.—If good looks and pleasant countenances indicate any thing, the people of Bellefonte had quite a pleasant time in entertaining them.

—The habit, too much indulged in by children, of sliding down stairs on top of the banisters, is always dangerous. On Saturday last a little girl named Maggie Johnston, on a visit to a friend's in this place, from Altoona, undertook to perform the feat, and losing her balance, fell to the floor a distance of twelve feet, cut her lip and chin, besides breaking her jaw. Dr. Brumbaugh dressed the wound, and she is now doing well.

—A Juvenile Temperance Society was formed in the Methodist Sunday School, on Sunday last. Over two hundred youths signed the pledge.—This is the right time to commence the temperance reform; the children have shown their willingness, but the training is owing almost exclusively to the precept and example of their parents, and it would be well if fathers and mothers would consider this truth.

—The following officers were elected and regularly installed in Standing Stone Lodge, I. O. G. T., on Tuesday evening last: W. C. T., Thomas W. Myton; W. V. T., Miss Hettie Henry; W. S., John Miller; W. A. S., Miss Mary Long; W. T., Miss Kate Cunningham; W. F. S., Robert U. Jacob; W. I. G., Mrs Jane Black; W. O. G., Benson M. Greene; W. C., John Major; W. M., Carlton Read; W. D. M., Miss Maggie Hagey; W. L. H. S., Miss Lottie Thomas; W. R. H. S., Andrew M'Coy.

—The Broad Top Railroad Company has kindly agreed to run an excursion train on Sunday, August 18th, to afford persons an opportunity to attend the dedication of the Union Church at Dudley, and also the Camp Meeting at Woodberry. Revs. W. Collier, of Sharpsburg, W. Lucas, of Allegheny City, Groves, of Saxton, Moore, of Alexandria, and McLain, of Lowistown, will be present at the dedication. The train leaves Huntingdon at 7,30 A. M., and stops at all stations, and leaves Dudley at 7,45 P. M. Train connects at Cove station with hacks for Woodberry.

TO POST MASTERS.

It is annoying to us to have complaints made to us frequently by subscribers to the Globe that their papers are often detained and badly used at their Post Offices by the Post Masters themselves or by persons taking liberties the law and honesty denies them. The Globes sent to subscribers are for their use only and we wish Post Masters to understand this.

A Bold Thief.

On Friday last an Irish woman named Annie Nolan, employed as a servant in the house of Mr. W. P. Rudolph, in this place, took it into her head, in the absence of the mistress, to pack up her bundle, and leave the premises most unceremoniously. She accordingly commenced to pack up, but instead of taking her own clothing, she opened Mrs. Rudolph's wardrobe and helped herself to six dresses, one of them silk, one large shawl, together with some other articles of apparel, and some jewelry, amounting in all to about $150. Mrs. Rudolph returned home in the evening of Friday, and not finding her domestic, suspected that something was wrong, which fear was soon realized when she beheld her wardrobe.

The next morning Mr. James A. Brown went in search of the thief, and hearing at Petersburg, whither she had walked, that she had gone to Tyrone, he at once repaired thither.—The woman was not in Tyrone, but had gone to Osceola, near which place she was captured in a house of rather suspicious nature. The bundle of clothes was taken from her, and she was placed in safe keeping.

A Bold Operation.

We find the following in the Johnstown Democrat. As Huntingdon is a station where the cars are inspected, we deem it applicable, and therefore publish it as a warning in time:

Some weeks ago, a passenger train on the Fort Wayne and Chicago Rail Road, stopped just after dark at a town in Ohio, where the wheels and running machinery of the cars were to be inspected. Shortly after the train halted, an individual stepped into one of the cars, and with an air of authority announced, that there was a crack in one of the wheels of the car, and as it would be taken out of the train, the passengers should proceed to the next car, whereupon the lights were at once put out. The passengers rushed into the aisle in great hurry and when the confusion was at its height, the conductor appeared and finding the lights extinguished, and the cause, announced to the occupants of the car, that thieves had undoubtedly been at work. On lighting up the car, it was found that a number of pockets had been picked. Among the victims, to the amount of several hundred dollars, was a Mr. Hostettler, formerly of this neighborhood, but for some years a resident of Ohio, where he had sold his farm, and was now proceeding to Indiana to buy another. Fortunately Mr. H. had given the bulk of his money to his wife a short time before the rogues made their raid upon the car.

A Worthy Article.

We can not refrain from speaking of this most perfect little matter of economy, the "LAMB" IMPROVED KNITTING MACHINE, opposite our office, on Washington st. It is a Labor-Saver that should be, at least, in every community, if not in every family. It is simple, durable, without a wheel of any kind and is very easily operated. This Machine will finish a pair of men's socks, complete, ready to wear, in fifteen minutes; it narrows or widens to any extent, and is capable of making fifteen or more different kinds of stitches. It makes all articles of wearing apparel usually manufactured from yarn of any kind or quality. Our Farmers should take advantage of this opportunity to become possessed of these machines, or, bring their yarn in and have it knit for winter wear. We recommend the machine.

Almost Drowned.

We learn that Howard, a son of Rev. Thomas Barnhart, Presiding Elder of this district, came very near being drowned in the canal on Thursday of last week. He was walking along the margin, and happening to see a flower that took his fancy he stooped down to get it, but it being beyond his reach he lost his balance and fell headlong into the water. His younger brother, Philip, who was along, reached in to save him as he was going down the third time, when Howard caught hold of his hand, and would have pulled him in also had he not exerted himself to pull him to the bank. Howard recovered his senses and scrambled out. He would undoubtedly have been drowned had not his heroic little brother tried to save him, as there was no one else near.

Man Killed.

On Friday evening last, a young man named Calvin Cyphers, employed as a flagman on the Broad Top Railroad, was caught between a car and the coal platform at the cut, and bruised internally to such an extent as to cause his death in a few hours afterward. He is about 18 years of age, and resided at Saxton.

☞ Our readers should not forget that a series of chaste and entertaining performances will be given at the Castilian Garden throughout the week, commencing with this evening, by Charley Stuart's Young Opera Troupe. Change of programme every evening. Tickets, 25 and 15 cents.

"Beyond the Mississippi."

A Complete History of the New States and Territories, from the Great River to the Great Ocean, by Albert D. Richardson. This is a most entertaining and valuable book, and its popularity is attested by the sale of over 20,000 copies in a single month. The Author's long and varied experience in the little known and interesting regions of the Far West, furnishes the valuable material for its contents.

Mr. Richardson is widely known as one of our most brilliant journalists and writers. No other Author has traveled over so much of our vast western domains, and we know of no one who can so well describe what he has seen. He is always interesting, generally amusing, and, better still, invariably truthful.

The volume before us is accompanied by an accurate and minute map of the entire region beyond the Mississippi, and is elegantly printed and profusely illustrated with over two hundred engravings from original photographs and sketches from the pencils of Bierstadt, Nast, Hennessy, Darley, Fenn, Stephens, Forbes and other eminent artists, which are really beautiful and worthy of examination as specimens of art. Many of them are set into the body of the text, after the popular style of Lossing's Pictorial Field Book of the Revolution.

It is a credit both to American art and authorship, and is not only the most valuable work from Mr. Richardson's pen, but by far the best and most complete history of the great West ever issued. Those who wish for authentic information of the resources, condition and prospects of the Western and greater half of the continent, within a few years to be sown thick with civilized States, rich in all the elements of greatness, should consult this most valuable work. The writer has a charming style, a fund of humor, and his experiences are of thrilling interest. We predict for this book an unprecedented sale. "All Young American" expect to go West and seek their fortunes when the Pacific Railroad is built, if not before, and will read with avidity "Beyond the Mississippi."

This work, we understand, is sold only by subscription, and is just such a one as persons seeking to act as agents should add to their list. It is published by the National Publishing Co., Philadelphia, Pa.

WANTED.

500 Agents to canvass for a work entitled "Nojoque," written by Hinton R. Helper, author of the "Impending Crisis of the South." The object of the author in this work is to show the great distinction between the white and black races. He denounces negro political and social equality, and says he can no longer act with a party that would willingly destroy the great line of distinction between the white and black races which God himself has established. Every person should secure a copy of this work.

ALSO, 500 Agents wanted to circulate the "Youth's History of the War," the only history from a Democratic standpoint. Those desiring agencies should address E. W. MILLER, Huntingdon P. O., Pa.

Or call on Mr. Martin Flenner, at the same place. August 7, '67-tf.

MARRIED,

On the 1st inst., in Petersburg, by Joseph Johnston, Esq., Mr. HENRY HEFRIGHT to Mrs. ROSE A. GEISLER, all of that place.

DIED,

At the residence of her son Wm. H. DeArmitt, in this borough, on the 23d ult., Mrs. MARY DEARMITT, formerly of the Borough of Petersburg, aged 65 years.

In Water Street, Huntingdon County, Pa., July 20th., GEORGE G., infant son of Nathaniel S. and Anna M. Given, aged 2 years, 8 months and 2 days.

While playing with a spool of thread he fell, severing an artery in his upper lip, from which he bled until life was almost extinct. An attack of Scarlet Fever following before he had recovered strength, carried him off. He has left his three little brothers below to join his brother Frank in Heaven. Prothonotary's Office, July 17, 1867.

PROCLAMATION.—WHEREAS, by a precept to me directed, dated at Huntingdon, the 20th of April, A. D. 1867, under the hands and seal of the Hon. George Taylor, President of the Court of Common Pleas, Oyer and Terminer, and general jail delivery of the 24th Judicial District of Pennsylvania, composed of Huntingdon, Blair and Cambria counties; and the Hons. Anthony J. Hewer and David Clarkson, his associates, Judges of the county of Huntingdon, justices assigned, appointed to hear, try and determine all and every indictments made or taken for or concerning all crimes, which by the laws of the State are made capital, or felonies of death, and other offences, crimes and misdemeanors, which have been or shall hereafter be committed or perpetrated, for crimes aforesaid—I am commanded to make public proclamation throughout my whole bailiwick, that a Court of Oyer and Terminer, of Common Pleas and Quarter Sessions, will be held at the Court House in the borough of Huntingdon, on the second Monday (and 12th day) of AUGUST next, and those who will prosecute the said prisoners, be then and there to prosecute them as it shall be just, and that all Justices of the Peace, Coroner and Constables within said county, be then and there in their proper persons, at 10 o'clock, a. m. of said day, with their records, inquisitions, examinations and remembrances, to do those things which to their offices respectively appertain.

Dated at Huntingdon, the 10th of July, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and sixty-seven, and the 91st year of American Independence.

JAS. F. BATHURST, Sheriff.

SHERIFF'S SALES.—By virtue of writs of Vend. Exp. Fi. Fa and Lev. Fa. directed to me, I will expose to public sale or outcry, at the Court House, in the borough of Huntingdon, ON MONDAY, 12TH DAY of AUGUST, A. D. 1867, at 2 o'clock, P. M., the following described property to wit:

All that certain lot, or part of a lot, of ground, fronting fifty feet on the south side of Church street, in the borough of Huntingdon, and extending back in depth 190 feet, being the northern half of lot No. 201 in said borough. Seized, taken in execution, and to be sold as the property of Margaret Brotherline and Jas. Saxton.

ALSO—A tract, piece, or parcel of land, situated in Cass township, containing 202 acres, having a large stone house, a log stable, a saw-mill and a distillery thereon erected, about 70 acres of which land are cleared, and the balance well timbered, adjoining lands of John Savage on the west, Joshua Greenland on the north, R. and J. Crotsley on the east, and Peter Kaufman on the south. There is a good appearance of iron ore upon this land. Seized, taken in execution, and to be sold as the property of William Weaver.

ALSO—A lot of ground in Tod township, Huntingdon county, containing about ½ acre, bounded on the north and east by ——— Plummer, south by public road leading from Broad Top City to Huntingdon, and west by property of Thomas Clark, with a two-story frame house, with log back kitchen, and a two story blacksmith shop thereon, or standing partly thereon. Seized, taken in execution, and to be sold as the property of Amos Clark.

ALSO—All that certain piece of ground consisting of part of lots No. 8, 9, and 10 in the recorded plan of the borough of Huntingdon, adjoining lots of Mrs. M. Murray, and R. B. Petrikin on the east, Allegheny st. on the south, Smith street on the west, and an alley ten feet wide (which is appurtenant to the premises) adjoining the same, and the southern part of which is eighty feet from Hill street, in the said borough, having on the said lot a stone and brick dwelling house, a brick stable and other improvements. Seized, taken in execution, and to be sold as the property of Joseph Morrison.

ALSO—All that certain lot of ground, situate in the village of Coffee Run, Lincoln township, being 80 feet in front and 60 feet in rear and width, and 100 feet deep, the inside angle forming a line 136 feet long, and in the recorded plan of said village, made by J. Simpson Africa, Esq., 30th May, 1855, being lot No. 8, having thereon a new frame store house, blacksmith shop &c.

Also, All that certain piece and parcel of land, in the village of Coffee Run, Lincoln township, being lots Nos. 1, 2, 3 and 4 in the plan of said village, made by J. Simpson Africa, Esq., on the 30th and 31st days of May, 1855, each of said lots being 60 feet in width and 100 feet in length, being adjacent to and west of the Huntingdon and Broad Top Mountain Railroad, adjoining lot No. 5 on the south, and on the west and north land of John Beaver, having thereon a wagon shed, corn-crib, &c.

Also, All that certain other lot of ground, in the village of Coffee Run, Lincoln township, being lot No. 5 in the plan of said town, made by J. Simpson Africa, Esq., on the 30th May, 1855, lying on the west side of the Broad Top Railroad, being 60 feet in width and extending back 115 feet to an alley 12 feet wide, containing one-fourth of an acre, more or less, adjoining land of John Beaver on the north-west, lots Nos. 1, 2, 3 and four on the east and north, the Broad Top Railroad on the east, and other lands of Simon Cohn on the south, having thereon a two-story frame dwelling house, frame stable, &c.

Also, All that certain piece and parcel of land, situate in Lincoln township, bounded and described as follows, to wit: Beginning at a post on the line of land formerly of John Hagey, thence along said line south 48½ degrees east 35 perches and 8 1-100 of a perch to a stone heap, thence by land of John Beaver north 60¼ degrees west 42 1-100 perches to a post at the Broad Top Railroad, thence along the same being a curve of two degrees the chord of the acre bears, south 22 degrees 10 minutes west, and distance along said railroad 53 perches to a post, thence north 70¾ degrees west 11 26-100 perches to a stump, thence south 19¼ degrees, west 29 80-100 perches to the place of beginning, containing 20 acres, more or less, according to the draft made by J. Simpson Africa, Esq., 30th May, 1855, excepting lots Nos. 1, 2, 3, 4, 5 and 8 from this description and included in other conveyances to John Fulton, Mrs Foster and Simon Cohn. Seized, taken in execution, and to be sold as the property of Simon Cohn.

ALSO—All the right, title and interest of defendant in, to and out of all that part of Lot No. 8 in the recorded plan of the borough of Huntingdon, which fronts on Allegheny street, extending in front on said street from the western line of the lot of Thomas Fisher to the eastern line of the lots conveyed by J. K. McCahan to Joseph Morrison by deed dated April 5, 1865, and extending back from Allegheny street 30 feet toward Hill street, being the same premises conveyed to Joseph Morrison by Mary Murray by deed dated 5th April, 1865, recorded in Huntingdon county, in Book T, No. 2, page 55. Seized, taken in execution, and to be sold as the property of Joseph Morrison.

ALSO—All defendant's right, title, and interest in a tract or parcel of land situate in Cass and Tod townships, Huntingdon county, bounded and described as follows, to wit: On the north by lands of James Miller, east by land of James Hamilton south by lands of Philip Curfman, west by land of Elias McLain, containing 403 acres and allowance, about twenty acres of which are cleared, having a small plank house and stable thereon erected. Seized, taken in execution and to be sold as the property of Wm. P. Schell.

ALSO—Lot No. 126, in the borough of Coalmont, fronting fifty feet on Schell street, and extending back 150 feet, to an alley adjoining lot No. 125, on the east, and Dougherty street on the west, having a two story plank house and frame stable thereon erected. Seized, taken in execution and to be sold as the property of Thomas H. Fagan.

ALSO—A lot of ground in the village of Dudley, adjoining lots of Orbison & Co., east, by an alley on the south by street, and west by lot of James Brady, the said lot being 60 by 120 feet deep, having a large two story plank house and frame stable, and other necessary improvements thereon erected. Seized, taken in execution and to be sold as the property of Thomas Martin.

NOTICE TO PURCHASERS.—Bidders at Sheriff's Sales will take notice that immediately upon the property being knocked down, fifty per cent. of all bids under $100, and twenty-five per cent. of all bids over that sum, must be paid to the Sheriff, or the property will be set up again and sold to other bidders who will comply with the above terms.

If court continues two weeks deed acknowledged on Wednesday of second week. One week's court, property knocked down on Monday and deed acknowledged on the following Saturday.

BEALE'S
Late Powell's Embrocation,
For all Diseases Incident to HORSES, CATTLE, and the HUMAN FLESH,
Requiring the use of an External Application.

This new Compound, prepared by a practical Chemist having a full knowledge of all the medical virtues of each ingredient that enters into its composition, is warranted to exceed anything of the kind ever yet offered to the Public as an external application for the diseases for which it is recommended. We are satisfied that it will work its own road into the confidence of all who use it, and those who try it once will never be without it, and therefore we rely on experience as the best test of its usefulness. It is pronounced by Farriers and all who have tried it to be the best application ever used. This Embrocation has been put up for over eight years, and it is only through the increasing demand and urgent request of my friends and the Public that I send it forth as the grand remedial agent for the various diseases to which that noble and useful animal, the horse, is subject.

Many remedies have been offered to the Public under different forms, some of these are injurious, others at best of little use, and many wholly improper to answer the purposes for which they are recommended.

A judicious and really useful composition, free from those objections, has therefore long been desired by many gentlemen who have valuable horses, and are unwilling to trust them to the care of designing and pretended Farriers. Their wishes are at length fully gratified, by Dr. Beale having prevailed upon to allow this valuable Embrocation (which has proved so efficacious to the various diseases) to be prepared and brought out to the public.

This Embrocation was extensively used by the Government during the war.

Address all Orders to Dr. EDMUND BEALE,

MEDICAL ELECTRICITY
BY
DR. WILLIAM BREWSTER,
M'CONNELLSTOWN, PA.

For the benefit of those proposing to undertake Electrical treatment for diseases we give in the following list a few of the more prominent and most common complaints met with in our practice, in all of which we are most successful. IN NEARLY ALL CASES OF CHRONIC DISEASE, ELECTRICITY IS A SURE REMEDY, AND IN ALL CASES BENEFICIAL, IF PROPERLY APPLIED. These, therefore, afflicted with complaints not here enumerated, need have no hesitation in applying, and whether only RELIEF, or a PERMANENT CURE can be effected, they will receive replies accordingly. All communications free.

1 Epilepsy, Chorea, St. Vitus' Dance, Paralysis; Neuralgia, Hysteria, Nervousness, Palpitation of the Heart, Locke-Jaw, etc.
2 Sore Throat, Dyspepsia, Diarrhœa, Dysentery, Obstinate Constipation, Hemorrhoids, or Piles, Bilious, Flatulent and Painter's Colic, and all affections of the Liver and Spleen.
3 Catarrh, Cough, Influenza, Asthma, (where not caused by organic lesions of the heart,) Bronchitis, Pleurisy, Rheumatism of the Chest, Consumption in the early stages.
4 Gravel, Diabetis, and Kidney Complaints.
5 Rheumatism, Gout, Lumbago, Stiff Neck, Spinal Diseases, Hip Diseases, Cancers, Tumors; (those last named always cured without pain, or cutting, or plasters in any case.)

In a word, we propose to cure all curable diseases.

We have no connection whatever with any other Electrical office in this or any other county. All letters address to Thoughts for the Farmer.

Sweet Corn the Year Round.

Nearly all the dried corn that one buys has a flavor, when boiled, resembling soda or pearlash—certainly it has but little sweetness and much toughness. Now there is a way of preserving corn which entirely avoids these results, and which is warranted to give "entire satisfaction."

Select, in their season, fresh, medium sized ears of corn, strip off silk and husks, then plunge the ears in boiling hot water, leaving them in for only three minutes. Next cut the corn kernels from the cob with a sharp knife and spread them out on flat dishes, taking care not to have the layer more than two kernels thick.

The dishes must then be placed either in a moderate oven (left open) or over the kitchen range on a board shelf which can be arranged over it for the purpose (say 2½ or 3 feet above the top of the range). The contents of each dish must be disturbed occasionally, so as to insure their becoming thoroughly dried. It is well to spread lace or mosquito netting over the dishes to protect them from flies, dust, etc., for sometimes the corn will be two or three days in drying.

In winter, when you wish to enjoy the fruit of this little painstaking, you may take out a few handfuls of the corn, wash it well, soak it all night, and the next day boil it till tender, in the same water it was soaked in. About twenty minutes before you take it from the fire, add milk to the liquid in proportion to your taste, and when nearly done, add butter, pepper, and salt. A little corn starch, added as thickening, ten or fifteen minutes before taking the corn from the fire, improves it very much. The corn should not be dry when served, but floating thickly in its own stiff broth, and, my word for it, it will taste as fresh and sweet as any corn fresh grown.

I need not say, that by soaking corn thus dried all night, and also soaking the preserved beans for the same length of time, a delicious winter succotash can be made in the next day, as good as any ever eaten in summer.
Working Farmer.

Encourage the Boys.

A lad from Iowa writes, says the American Agriculturist, that he thinks farmer's sons ought to have a chance to earn something for themselves, to be allowed to make little ventures in stock-raising for pocket money, and to keep them contented at home. We think so too. We suppose a great many farmers do this, certainly the great majority of our readers do. But many work their boys with as little consideration as they work hired men. They take no pains to make farm life attractive, and the boys are off at the earliest opportunity. They have no joyous memories to bind them to the spot that ought to be the dearest on earth. To learn the worth of money they must have money as the result of their labors. To form habits of faithfulness carefulness and economy, these and, other virtues must be rewarded. They should have responsibilities put upon them while they are very young, and be encouraged to make money and to save it. Give them a hen, a goose, or turkey, a lamb, or pig, and let them have all they can make by good care and feeding. A boy of ten or twelve years of age, with a little instruction, can manage the poultry. Let him take it on shares and see what he can make of it. Give him a patch for a garden, and, if near a market, let him sell what he can raise. Give him a half dozen apple trees or pear trees, teach him to graft them, if they need it, and let the fruit be his. Give the boys an interest in your business, and make them intelligent in it, and they will not be in haste to leave the homestead. Encourage them to read agricultural papers and books, and the appetite will grow by what it feeds upon. The farm will be the scene of cheerful, well rewarded labor, and will always be loved.

☞ Here is a receipt for making ginger beer, a very wholesome and refreshing summer beverage. Put two gallons of cold water into a pot upon the fire; add two ounces of good ginger, bruised, and two pounds of white or brown sugar. Let this come to a boil, and continue boiling for about half an hour. Then skim the liquor and pour it into a jar or tub, along with one sliced lemon and half an oz. cream of tartar. When nearly cold put in a teaspoonful of yeast, to cause the liquor to work. The beer is now made; and after it has worked for three days, strain it and bottle it for use. Tie down the corks firmly.

A Wonderful Cure.—James Bowman as is well known to our citizens, through exposure, lost his voice in 1864 while in the army. From that time until the 11th day of the present month he has not spoken a loud word. A short time since a German woman advised him to use a mixture of grated horseradish and honey, made into a sort of taffey. He followed her advice, and since the 11th day of March has been able to converse in as loud a tone as any one. It may be recorded as one of the wonderful cures.—Columbus Statesman.

PROF. H. M'ENTYRE'S GREAT REMEDY,
THE
INDIAN COMPOUND
Internal and External Medicine,
WILL CURE:
☞ Diarrhœa, Bloody Flux in one day,
☞ Headache and Earache in three minutes.
☞ Toothache in one minute.
☞ Neuralgia in five minutes,
☞ Sprains in twenty minutes,
☞ Sore Throat in ten minutes,
☞ Cholic and Cramp in five minutes,
☞ Rheumatism in one day,
☞ Pain in the Back or Side in ten minutes,
☞ Bad Coughs or Colds in one day,
☞ Fever and Ague in one day.
☞ Cures Deafness, Asthma, Piles,
☞ Bronchitis Affections, Dyspepsia,
☞ Inflammation of the Kidneys, Erysipelas,
☞ Liver Complaint and Palpitation of the Heart.
Keep it in your Families—Sickness comes when least expected,
I propose to check, and effectually dissipate more ache and pain, and to accomplish more perfect equilibrium of all the circulating fluids in the human system, than can be effected by any other, or all other methods of medical aid in the same space of time.
THIS POPULAR REMEDY is fast coming into use, for the fact that I cure, free of charge, all those complaints whenever there is an opportunity to do so. As soon as it is applied it almost miraculously kills the pain. I do not ask you to buy before you are certain of its efficiency. If you have an ache or pain, it is warranted to do all it purports on the label.
I do not propose to cure every disease—only a class named by my directions. My liniment operates on chemical and electric principles, and is, therefore, applicable, to the cure or natural restorative of all organic derangement arising from an improper circulation of the nerve vital fluids.
Prof. J. H. McEntyre's INDIAN COMPOUND acts directly on the absorbents, reducing glandular and other swellings in incredible short time, without any possible danger from its use under any possible circumstances.
This is an internal and external medicine—composed of roots, herbs and barks, such as our forefathers used.—There is a bountiful supply on earth to cure all complaints if we only know what they were.
This has been a great study with the Medical Faculty for many years, to find out the kinds best adapted to the above complaints—how to put them together, and what proportions to use. J. H. McENTYRE,
Proprietor, Reading, Pa.
For sale at Lewis' Book Store.
Huntingdon, Pa., Sept. 6, 1865.
McENTYRE'S

PHOTOGRAPH
PATENT APPLIED FOR.
Hitherto there has been nothing introduced in way of a Marriage Certificate that has excited any interest or attraction; but the originators of the PHOTOGRAPH MARRIAGE CERTIFICATE claim that they have gotten up something that will be most heartily welcomed by all persons now married and all those who contemplate marriage.
Size and Plan of the Marriage Certificate.
The size of the Certificate is 19 by 14 inches. It contains a beautiful figure representing the union of two hearts. Above the figure is written in beautifully ornamented German Text the words "Photograph Marriage Certificate." There are three spaces in the figure: on the space in the center the Certificate proper is written. The words, "two hearts in one" form an arch over the Certificate proper, and immediately under the arch there is a beautiful figure representing the joining of hands, and where the centre space comes to a point there is a picture of two beautiful turtle doves. On the space to the left there is a place for the photograph of the gentleman and under it we have the words, "To the Husband," in ornamental text, under which we have selections of Scripture passages addressed to the husband. On the left side of the engraving we have a place for the Photograph of the wife. Immediately under which we have the words, "To the Wife," in ornamental text, under which are appropriate passages of Scripture addressed to the wife. Over the space for the photograph of gentleman we have written in Old English characters, the following appropriate passage of Scripture: "It is not good that the man should be alone," and over the space for the photograph of the lady, we have the corresponding words: "I will make him an help meet for him." At the lower extension of the figure of the hearts, we have the hearts bound together or encircled in part by these words: "What therefore God hath joined together let no man put asunder." The Certificate is so constructed that card photographs of both bride and bridegroom can be inserted without the least possible difficulty. Indeed everything connected with it is so elegant, attractive and desirable that many single persons seeing the Certificate have been so much pleased with its appearance, that they purchased on sight one of those beautiful parlor ornaments.
A specimen copy of the Photograph Marriage Certificate will be carefully put up and sent by mail free, on receipt of the retail price, which is ONE DOLLAR.

This Billiard Room challenges comparison with any room in the State, west of Philadelphia.

No more Bald Heads!
No more Gray Locks!
DR. LEON'S
ELECTRIC HAIR RENEWER,
Is pronounced by all who have used it the very best preparation for the Hair. It is a positive cure for Baldness, eradicates Dandruff and Humors, stops the hair from falling out, and speedily restores Gray Locks to their original hue and luxuriance.
It operates on the secretions and fills the glands with new life and coloring matter. Thin, dead, faded or gray hair, will always be brought back by a few applications, to its youthful abundance, vitality and color.
It makes the hair soft, glossy, fragrant, pleasant to the touch and easy to arrange. Dry, wiry and intractable locks become moist, pliant and disposed to remain in any desired position. As a Hair Dressing it has no equal—The sales are enormous and it is a universal favorite with old and young of both sexes.
Sold by Druggists throughout the United States. Address all orders to
